COMMENTS

These professional rotary scrapers, designed and patented by Ritmo, are preferred by many contractors for electrofusion welding. The main chuck has four extendable arms that clamps directly the inside diameter of the pipe.

One big benefit is these can hold short leg stub flanges and spigot bends and tees. Most other scrapers on the market are unable to hold the short leg so it is a big benefit to the installer.

Practical and handy, they come with a carry case to keep all parts together as the arms have varying insert attachments depending on the size you are scraping.

Among the main construction features, there is a device that makes it possible to maintain the thickness of the continuous peel constant, even if the pipe is misshaped, and to adjust the length of the surface to scrape according to the depth of the electrofusion coupler.

The RTC 500 & RTC 710 features an extendable arm to scrape the exact length of the electrofusion coupler, which is an advantage when having to perform maintenance/repair jobs on the building site.
